

PROJECT NARRATIVE

This fellowship will provide me with advanced training in genetic mechanisms that lead to heart failure, the most common cause of hospitalization in the United States. My project will investigate why variants in the TTN gene are a frequent cause of the disease, and findings may uncover new therapeutic targets and improve treatment strategies.